Real Voices: The Student Communication Competition

Proposed Themes and Subthemes

General Orientation

Students are required to select one main theme and may focus on a specific subtheme or further refine it into a precise topic relevant to their project.

All topics must be approached from an academic, analytical, and neutral perspective. Students must avoid:

- Political positioning
- Criticism of public authorities
- Sensitive or controversial framing

The emphasis should be on observation, analysis, and constructive discussion.

1. Illegal Immigration (Institutional Perspective)

- Institutional strategies for managing migration flows
- Public communication and awareness strategies by authorities
- Data collection and reporting practices on migration
- Role of border and monitoring systems in migration management

2. Social Media and Social Norms

- Representation of behaviors on social media
- Influence of content creators on everyday practices
- Social media and identity formation
- Digital communication and cultural change

3. Transportation and Daily Mobility

- Transportation infrastructure and its role in daily mobility
- Public and private transportation: uses and experiences
- Accessibility of transportation services

- Impact of mobility conditions on quality of life

4. Small Business and Local Economy

- Role of small businesses in local development
- Challenges faced by entrepreneurs
- Informal versus formal economic activities
- Youth initiatives and innovation

Important Note

Students are encouraged to:

- Clearly define a focused topic within the selected theme
- Maintain academic rigor and neutrality
- Base their work on real-life observation and evidence
